

MINOR IN INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS

Jem Kimber C. Chua

Moments after hearing a familiar laugh across JSEC, everyone already knows that it echoes from the bundle of joy that is Jem Chua. But beneath her small stature is a woman who is not afraid to set the bar a notch higher. Her pursuit for various opportunities in AMA and her JTA in Paris led her to discover that she is more than just the baby she thought she was. She has now grown into an independent woman with dreams yet to be fulfilled, while always staying grounded on her “why.” (B. Go)

MINOR IN FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT

Julia Kristine Albert D. Chua

Someone that lets love—not just the romantic kind, but the kind that makes people feel they matter—rule in her life, Julia leaves people better than she found them. Many say she’s a hopeless romantic, but Julia begs to differ. She’s simply closer to her emotions than most, but as humans, were we not created to feel? In spite of all that Julia has accomplished, she would rather be remembered as someone who loved and cared for people deeply, regardless of whether they deserved it or not. (H. Yulo)
