

Marie Ysabel T. Guanzon

Count on Ysa for your daily dose of positivity. Her bubbly personality is paired with the kindest soul, but behind the bright smile and the contagious laughter is a passionate woman who is not afraid to speak out and stand by her beliefs. Ysa is politically fluent, eloquent with language, but most of all, a dependable friend. She is proof that hard work transcends whatever adversities life throws at you. They say honor begets honor, grace begets grace. For that, she is thankful to the Ateneo.

Mellavina Rose O. Gutierrez

College introduced me to a new kind of world, one where nothing is permanent and everything in life is more complicated than it seems. Here, I learned how to embrace failure and vulnerability. I learned how to hope and love in times of despair. I learned how to break out of my comfort zone. I learned how to believe in myself and what it means to be human. Thank you, Ateneo, for helping me build a stronger and better version of who I can be. It is truly a privilege to call you home.
