Thank you, Ateneo, for being my home away from home away from home. Thank you for making me go down a hill just to come home to another one for the past four years. There's no other place I would go through three hours of traffic every weekday for, but you.

Rianna Marie G. Raymundo

Perhaps it's the poverty of language or perhaps she is utterly incomprehensible because the right words are hard to find. She is beyond words, beyond labels, and beyond limits— it's one in a million to find warriors inside princesses. Rian journeys through life with her head held high and her heart blazing with fire to reach for the stars. Incredible talent coupled with an ignited passion is this girl's formula to stardom. Watch out, world. She'll own it. (L. Balmes, R. Echevarria, & L. Vivas)
