

MINOR IN JAPANESE STUDIES

Dianne Salve A. Rosales

Everything shall pass, I told myself. You were never my first choice, but I don't regret what we had together. The unexpected surprises, the joyful ups, the painful downs, and our over-all journey together made this all worth it. The journey took four long years, and yet it felt like only hours have passed. As things reach their inevitable end, I say to you now with a smile on my face: We're done. It's over.
Everything shall pass – that's what I always told myself. And so they did.

Kristoffer I. Rosales

Surviving college is a lot like this write-up. You just have to make sure you submit something before the deadline.