

Katrina Marie S. Domingo

Here's to getting through each other's low points and celebrating small victories, ice cream and other cravings, day drinking and wine nights, petty cattiness and grounding heart-to-hearts. Seeing Kat bloom to the woman she is now was a sight to behold. I'm beyond thankful that her stay in Ateneo made her stronger and fiercer, yet kinder and more caring. These past four years have taught her lessons words cannot fully encompass. I can only hope that the world is ready for her radiance. (A. Legaspi)

John Paul T. Dulu

"Be who you are and say what you feel because people who mind don't matter and people who matter don't mind" (Dr. Seuss). There are times that we tend to doubt who we are. However, it is in these times of doubt that we have the potential to discover more about ourselves; with a steady heart and unwavering faith, we can become our fullest selves. Thank you Ateneo for teaching me to be the best version of myself.