

MINOR IN DEVELOPMENT MANAGEMENT

Elin Bettina I. De La Cruz

You have that wary look on your face as you move away from the shore. Yet, you also feel that leap in your chest, filled with excitement for what is coming ahead. In your return, you may feel like the journey may not have been what you expected. It turned out to be so much more. You will realize how it made you stronger — emboldened by the turbulent waves that you surpassed along. And now, this may be the end of your voyage but not of your journey. Go tread deeper seas. Climb higher mountains.

MINOR IN GERMAN STUDIES

Jon Martin O. De La Paz

A woman of many characteristics is who Martha is. Aside from being a bright student who consistently does well in her academics and org life, Martha is a strong-hearted goal-getter. She is determined to pursue her dreams in life, one of which is her deep passion to help those in need. Truly, Martha has one of the purest hearts ever as she never fails to stand up for what she believes in. Indeed, the world is a much brighter place because of this beautiful, bubbly and humble woman. (A. Natividad)