

Louise Danelle E. Ferrer

In her four years in Ateneo, Lou was always the person who radiated love and happiness, like “a cake filled with rainbows and smiles.” Once you see her laugh or smile, you can’t help but do the same. She is that huggable friend you can always rely on, and that pseudo mom you can always approach for motivation and support. Despite the stress and all-nighters, she has faced her college life with nothing but joy and it has seen her through because every day is a beautiful day for Lou Ferrer.

The path I traversed was the road less traveled. Ateneo ingrained in me a zeal to dauntlessly take risks, to climb past walls, and to push beyond limits. Quoting Robert Frost, “taking this road has made all the difference.” The people I met throughout my voyage inspired me to love relentlessly, reflect profoundly, serve others passionately, and laugh incessantly. The end is always a beginning to another chapter—another opportunity to embrace the unknown pathway that you yourself will illuminate.
