“Life isn’t some cartoon musical where you sing a little song and all your insipid dreams magically come true. So let it go.” (Zootopia)

Here’s to getting through each other’s low points and celebrating small victories, ice cream and other cravings, day drinking and wine nights, petty cattiness and grounding heart-to-hearts. Seeing Kat bloom to the woman she is now was a sight to behold. I’m beyond thankful that her stay in Ateneo made her stronger and fiercer, yet kinder and more caring. These past four years have taught her lessons words cannot fully encompass. I can only hope that the world is ready for her radiance. (A. Legaspi)
