Practical tips for the needy (since this is probably the last time you'll hear from me for free):

1. If your mother says you're pretty, she's lying.
  2. When you really want to slap someone, do it and shout "mosquito!"
  3. If at first you don't succeed, find something easier to do.
- You're welcome.

There was somebody that once told me that the world was going to roll me and if the last five years have taught me anything, it's how you get back up that matters.

I've been pushed countless times these past five years and I can't thank Ateneo enough. Despite all the obstacles put in my way that caused me to fall, I can't help but fall in love with this school.
