

Angelou Clarisse M. Leonardo

I don't want to be inspirational for my yearbook write-up. I want to be that kid who reminds you that it's going to get worse from here. You may or may not succeed like you've imagined. You may or may not be as strong as you've thought. You may or may not be happy like you've always wanted. Life doesn't get better, you know. It's awful most of the time. But you, you may or may not get better. So choose to be the former.

Shaneika Edryce T. Lim

Graduating feels a lot like being kicked out of the nest, but if you think I can fly, Ateneo, then I hope I do you proud and soar.