

MINOR IN DEVELOPMENT MANAGEMENT

Darren Joshua T. Mackun

“Whether you like it or not, you have to do it.” That’s a recurring lesson the Ateneo has taught me. This journey of a boy from CDO to being an Ateneo graduate has been nothing short of humbling. College has been incredibly tough, but in the end, those long nights, clutch papers, group squabbles, were all worth it when I think about the future.

Thanks Ma, thanks Pa, without you guys, I wouldn’t have been able to have this experience.

MINOR IN MARKETING MANAGEMENT

Zyryll Lyle Q. Malonzo

In a word, she is a firebird; a force to be reckoned with, a beautiful fireworks display, and a friend as loving and warm as her burning passion. She is a compass who always points north. Wherever she is, whatever it is, whoever you are, she will give her all, full-speed ahead. Her capacity to love gives her the strength to move mountains – a reminder that it is not how long the voyage, but how deep the dive. Her essence is in her complexity; unparalleled and successful, she is destined to be.