“It is not so easy to become what one is, to rediscover one’s deepest measure. But watching the solid backbone of the Chenoua, my heart would grow calm with a strange certainty.” (A. Camus)

“For you, a thousand times over” (K. Hosseini). For Him, for Darlene and Juancho, for the friendships I’ve made and the new families I’ve found, for the love, for the growth, for the little joys and great triumphs, for the challenges I’ve conquered and failed at, for life for teaching me that it should not only be “for you” but more so “for others” – for all of this and everything else that the past four years have given me, a thousand times over.
