“We do not have the ideal world, such as we would like, where morality is easy because cognition is easy. Where one can do right with no effort because he can detect the obvious.” (P. K. Dick, The Man in the High Castle)

M. Remate

With her zest for life and for the good in people, it's refreshing meeting someone like Shane. She may slip and fall a lot, but there is nothing clumsy in the wholehearted way she loves: her friends, singing, even binge-watching television shows in her pyjamas. Her words drip with enthusiasm and vibrance, always hoping to share her sunlight with others (R. Aguilar).
