“I don’t know if we each have a destiny, or if we’re all just floatin’ around accidental-like on a breeze. But I, I think maybe it’s both” (Forrest Gump). For all the right reasons that led me to the Ateneo, and for everything that made me who I am today, from the bottom of my heart, thank you. It’s been one magical ride.

Alphonso Joaquin L. Reyes

Alphonso is very fond of asking questions. He is intuitive and makes it a point to verify what he is being told and does not take it at face value. Alphonso inspires his friends by showing them that anyone can dream big. He is not afraid to take risks and does not easily get discouraged when doubted. He is able to use this as motivation for his drive to success.

Without a doubt, the essence of being a man for others, together with his drive for excellence, he has the whole world ahead of him.
