

Samantha Rae G. Tiu

God, my God, as I am Your sheep, take away my wool.
That I may be bare in Your love,
That I may be vulnerable to Your grace,
That I may be weak to Your will.
If I fall into the ravine,
Will You come look for me?

Ted Samuel S. Tiu

Four years' worth of group studying in Matteo Up, orals in De la Costa, drinking up the caffeine, smelling like JSEC, hanging out in the CODE room, meetings in MVP landing, chill post-test days, trying to squeeze out an exercise in between hell weeks, the classes I cut and the classes I will always be grateful for, the good decisions, the bad decisions, and everything in between have all led me here. No matter how far I go, I will always look back fondly. Thank you, Ateneo.
