

MINOR IN INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS

Joshua Miguel C. Guico

There are lessons knit closer to memory far more than others, roughly sixteen years since I first stepped on campus – lessons that have taught me how to be human and act toward the good. I have learned how a collective operates in – their goals, means, and inner motives. But what has stayed with me most is how to see and understand beauty, for it illumines the good, which leads back to the truth. Thank you, Ateneo.

MINOR IN DECISION SCIENCE

Jose Miguel T. Guinto

Eight years. That's how long Miguel has been an Atenean, and I've witnessed him grow into who he is today since day one. Ateneo has really helped guide and mold him; through all the pleasant and painful experiences, Miguel remained steadfast in his journey toward being a college graduate. He stayed true to himself despite all the pressures being a student can bring. Everything is clear. It's coming to an end, and so his new adventure begins. (B. Jao)
