

Arabella Reyes

Looking back at my first day in OrSem and imagining my last day in graduation, I realize that I have changed so much throughout the process. There were so many LTs, thesis statements, terror profs, and group projects that seemed impossible before the deadline, but in the end, I have survived them all. And because of these, I know that whatever hurdles the future may bring—kakayanin dahil kinaya.

Kathleen Camille M. Rodriguez

In everything, aim for growth. I understood this in a more personal level in Ateneo when I was