College made me braver and stronger. On this wonderful and challenging journey, I took every chance I have and did away with all the what if's. Things did not always turn out the way they're supposed to. For that, I forgave myself for my shortcomings. Fear may sometimes take over due to uncertainties, but the courage to find out and overcome these uncertainties is even greater. Going up and down the hill is a privilege and I have nothing else to say but this: Thank you, Ateneo.
