

Bianca Angela R. Colasito

Five years, eleven semesters, gallons of coffee, and countless breakdowns later, I am now certain that I'm left with more questions to ask than I've been given answers. This journey made me realise how little I know, and how much more I have to learn about the world. For this, I am grateful. To all the people whose company had prevented me from falling apart, to all in Ateneo Blue Symphony, to my ever patient teachers, and my loving parents—thank you for not giving up on me.

“Turns out real life is a little bit more complicated than a slogan on a bumper sticker. Real life is messy. We all have limitations. We all make mistakes. Which means – hey, glass half full! – we all have a lot in common. And the more we try to understand one another, the more exceptional each of us will be. But we have to try. Try to make the world a better place. Look inside yourself and recognize that change starts with you. It starts with me. It starts with all of us.” (Judy Hopps, Zootopia)
