

Ivan Alric G. Lagandaon

Ivan's the most charismatic person you'll ever meet, and the kind of person you thank the universe for. With an easygoing personality, Ivan can be everybody's friend. He always seems to live life wherever it takes him, and turns seemingly trivial moments into opportunities for joy. Ivan's the guy you trust with your life – the person who's willing to stay up late to share jokes, as well as hear your thoughts and ideas. Somehow he's an expert in making life happier – better, even.

Ateneo has taught me that we are a multitude of possibilities – that setting sail on one route doesn't mean that we have to forego all the other routes. In the bigger scheme of things, we know that we can always move forward. So as this journey comes to an end, and I set foot in what lies ahead, I thank Ateneo for enlightening me with all the possibilities that I can be – for myself and, more importantly, for others.
