

Paolo Miguel B. Quiogue

I remember entering Ateneo as a seven-year-old kid, unaware of all the great things that lay ahead of me. From representing the blue and white to becoming a student leader — knowing that all these are coming to an end seems surreal. Looking at it now, I realize that it wasn't the big things that defined who I am — it was everything in between. As my sixteen years in Ateneo come to an end, it's the subtleties that I'll bring with me down the hill, though the milestones may have brought me here.

SPECIALIZATION IN SOCIAL ENTREPRENEURSHIP

Justine Angela Michelle B. Recio

She is the kind that keeps you guessing. A fighter that never rests after each win, Justine leaves you wondering what she'll be up to next. She has the passion and soul in her heart to overcome any obstacle, defy expectations, and command her own fortune. As she takes on the world, I'm not afraid of what happens to her; I'm more afraid for those who try to stop her. With her cleverness and charm, Justine has us right where she wants us: on our toes and watching from the edge of our seats. (H.N.)
