

Aaron Jan F. Cayanan

To the long nights of studying math. To the long Philo and Theo readings. To the wonderful professors. Here I am. Informed. Involved. Hopeful. Grateful. I learned about a good life. I learned to love and hope. I learned to be okay when things are not okay. It's part of life and I look forward to it. To more suffering and joy. To more experiences. To more love. Thank you, Ateneo.

John Michael O. Cheng

I always thought a math course would be difficult for any person. After four years, I can confidently tell people that it was not difficult, only because there is no word to describe how much endurance my classmates and I had to put up. In the end, however, it brought out the best in me, and for that I am grateful.