

MINOR IN FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT

Justin Job K. Cimafranca

I slept through several of my classes and cut a number of the rest. People often tell me I wasted my education. And yet I learned more in those four years than I ever did before. Sometimes the best lessons in life go beyond the regular curriculum. Sometimes the best memories are made outside the confines of the classroom. Sometimes you meet the most important people when you least expect it.

Four years in the Ateneo, and every second was worth it. I would relive it a million times if I could.

People never really change all that much. I'm still very much the same clueless boy who entered the Ateneo for the first time almost 15 years ago, only more so. Over the years, I have discovered more and more about myself, yet I understand that there is still so much more to see, so much more to learn, so much more to become.

People don't really change; they grow. I have grown so much during my time here, and for that, I am forever grateful.
