The entirety of my college journey has been filled with ‘what ifs’ which, I guess, could be rooted from meticulously trying to make the right choice every time. But in doing so, I tend to lose sight of the real picture. Being in the Ateneo taught me to go beyond what I am capable of and to turn that what if into a why not mindset. The lessons and values I have learned, the people and experiences I have encountered will always serve as my guide in facing the challenges of a world outside of mine.

From Rizal to Osaka to Copenhagen, Ateneo has given me opportunities that pushed me to become a better person. Through all the trials, I have learned to stay strong, have faith, and be grateful. Thank you for the four wonderful years, Ateneo.
