

Jacqueline E. Vitangcol

At the very end of my journey when I look back at my life, I would want to remember all the good things that have happened, the people whom I've encountered, and be thankful. I hope that I would be remembered as someone who did good for others — the one who made them smile or laugh on their worst day, the one who helped them in some way, or the one who they ran to when it was too hard not to cry. The world may be a difficult place, but I wish I could make it a little better one smile at a time.
