

Bernie Ezekiel Santos

Everybody dies in the summer; wanna say your goodbyes, tell them while it's spring.
I heard everybody's dying in the summer, so pray to God for a little more spring.

Betina C. Santos

Betina has chased after lot of things in life. Deadlines. Classes. Quotas. Presentations. Boys. Goals. And the inexplicable desire to prove that she, more than any other woman, deserves to hold John Lloyd's heart. But between the little victories and the constant struggles in life, nothing's more important than having to face all these things as cute as she can possibly be. Beyond Ateneo, she will forever remain a cute chaser.
