

MINOR IN CHINESE STUDIES

Nicholas Martino G. Tan

Cleaning up my workspace before my last semester was very fulfilling. I can now donate all my old notes!

To be honest, I didn't feel like being an Atenean was for me until we were protesting against Marcos' burial at the Libingan ng mga Bayani. It was the first time I felt like being in Ateneo meant something, and I was proud. We were, as a community, on the roads of Katipunan, protesting for the good of the country.

That will always be my ambition: The best for our nation.

AM+DG

MINOR IN STRATEGIC HUMAN RESOURCES MANAGEMENT

Rodrigo Alfonso Javier B. Tan

To sixteen-year-old me who thought he was going to drop out after his first year of college, to seventeen-year-old me who thought he was going to fail his classes but got C's instead, to eighteen-year-old me who barely slept, missed many nights out, and almost had a breakdown, and to nineteen-year-old me who struggled to finish his thesis and last year of college: twenty-year-old you is eternally grateful for all your sacrifices.

We made it.