

Mark Christian Ray G. Garcia

“Our brokenness may appear beautiful, but our brokenness has no other beauty but the beauty that comes from the compassion that surrounds it.” (H. Nouwen)

The past four years have been a constant call to openness – to learn, to grow, and to share in the many rich stories of individuals from different walks of life. There is uncertainty in what lies ahead, but there is peace in knowing that each experience – good or bad – offers the possibility of giving, receiving, and sharing greater love.

Nicole Anne T. Gil

There are things bigger than us and we can only do so much, but the important thing is to do what we can.