Forget your plans and let go of preconceived notions: That's what I learned in Ateneo. Things never went according to plan. From day one, everything kept going the exact way I didn't want them to go. That doesn't mean I didn't enjoy the experience — actually quite the opposite. I've come to embrace change of all kinds, to adapt to the situation at hand, and to keep moving forward with no regrets. So thanks, Ateneo, for allowing me to experience the wildest four-year rollercoaster ride yet.

Extending fourth year for a semester as a super-senior is actually more fun than I thought. I will miss you, college, and all the new friends I made. See you guys around.
