Jason Allan T. Tan

My four years in Ateneo have always been less about what I did, and more about who I was with. To my parents who woke me up on time each morning, to my twin brother Benson who walked with me to school every day, to my blockmates who studied late nights with me for Math LT's, to great friends who kept me going during hell weeks: thank you for allowing me not just to survive, but to enjoy the journey. Now, on to new ones.
