

Jefferson Vince C. Eisma

What I thought of as an adventure was an anchor all along. Thank you, Ateneo – for the sleepless nights of cramming passes and oral exams, for the loving memories with BS MAC 2017 and MACA, and for amazing teachers with inspiring stories. And lastly, thank you for making me see that the key to understanding myself is by giving myself to others. These experiences are what made me grounded. As I leave these all behind, I come to sail into the sea, ready to explore the world that awaits me.

Maria Angelica L. Flores

As I, a young lady driven with passion and purpose, step into the greater expanse of the world, I carry the hopes and dreams of constantly gaining the courage to live a meaningful and ethical life as I uphold the Atenean value of 'kapwa' – of genuinely being united with and for the other as I respond to the call:
The call to serve, the call to justice, the call to love –
All from the God above.