

Bert Kevin C. Chan

Hello! Whether we are strangers, friends, or strange friends, I appreciate your taking time to read this silly yearbook entry. Words cannot express how grateful I am to have met you and to have shared what little words I have with you. You are truly a blessing. I wish you find whatever it is you are looking for and I hope to see you again when you do. Until then, take care and thank you.

Yours,

The guy who doesn't really say much.

P.S. When in doubt, read Rilke's "Letters to a Young Poet."

Ka Yan Donyx L. Chan

Ka Yan is the bravest girl I know. She is never afraid to be true to herself, never afraid to reach for the stars and go after what she wants, and never afraid to stand up for what she believes in. She's sweet and down to earth, but not at the expense of practicality and intellect. She's supportive and kind to the people lucky enough to be close to her. Well-rounded and talented in whatever she chooses to do, Ka Yan is a person we should all strive to be. (K. Cheng)