Being an all-around guy who seems to be in all places at once but still manages to make himself be 100% felt, and being able to easily pull together a presence that predominantly draws attention, are qualities that are so rare nowadays. People exert too much or too little effort to succeed, but striking a balance between the two is what Vinch skillfully embodies – exactly the type of person to fill in the gaps, rearrange things, break walls, and live without limitations (CL).

Alonso D. De Leon

“Put your heart, mind, and soul into even your smallest acts. This is the secret of success.” (Swami Sivananda)
