

Isaac Yi-Shun Cheung

To this day, it is still a never-ending battle against myself. My insecurities rage on relentlessly and my spirit is crushed. To this day, the only thing that prevents me from becoming great is myself, yet these four short years have taught me to keep on and enjoy the grind. Enjoy it, because life is a constant struggle against one's self. In my moments of defeat and weakness, I feel at peace because I realize that it is when we hit our lowest points that we are open to the greatest change.

Seanne Cathleen S. Cheung

"All we have to decide is what to do with the time that is given us." (The Fellowship of the Ring, J.R.R. Tolkien)