

Josemaria T. Onglao

A true blue eagle, bred and molded by the Ateneo. It is here where I learned that relationships and learnings are far more important than grades, and gained friends who I know will last a lifetime. The challenges in life will never stop, but my heart and my mind will guide me. And even if there may be times that I go down the hills, I know I'll be able to rise above them and soar like an eagle. Most of who I am today is thanks to my 16 years at the Ateneo.

Merlyn Anthony A. Patricio

The past 4 years have been quite a ride and was a whirlwind of different emotions and experiences. It was a journey that pushed me to the brink of insanity. Yet without it, I wouldn't be the person I am today – a person who's much wiser, braver, and stronger than ever before. So I want to thank you, Ateneo, for teaching me the value of compassion and humility, for helping me know and overcome my limitations, and for breaking me down and building me back up again. It has been quite an experience.