

Kyla Michal V. Cabatit

Three things I've learned in college: ask why, do not fear how, and forgive what if's.

MINOR IN HEALTH AND DEVELOPMENT

Juan Miguel A. Cajucum

I've always thought of myself as a small fish in a big ocean, aspiring to be better and getting upset when I fall short. But as I dive through the deep waters and venture into the unknown, I've met people who make me want to be better. All you need is to take a dive and keep swimming, no matter how the deep the waters and how strong the currents get. I've come to realize that life's a process that involves giving myself and learning from others, and that in my journey, I don't have to be alone.