

Joshua Antonio Elliott M. Vera

He is a gentleman, through and through. If manners do maketh man, Josh's seemingly effortlessly refined manner is a product of the mindfulness and real compassion that he practices every day. Few are as genuine and kind as Josh is; for his friends, he goes above and beyond, making us laugh through our worst days and catching us when we falter. Those who know him are grateful that it has been — as I'm sure it always will be — a true pleasure to sail through life by Josh's side. (J. Recio)

Through the years of taking undeserved naps, surviving all-nighters, and doing countless papers and defenses, thank you, Ateneo for giving me each day to grow in every failure and in every success. I am reminded that I am always a work in progress, thanks to this very institution that has humbled me to the core.

Thank you, Ateneo. Down from the hill I go.
