Ateneo has been a continuous cycle of learning what it means to trust, love, get hurt and broken down; but at the same time, heal, hope, and build myself up again. Having my fair share of good and bad experiences has helped me grow and learn more about myself along the way.

If there's one thing I'm certain of after all this, I can say, "I am who I am" with conviction, not because I accepted the kind of person who I just am, but because I was able to commit to the kind of person I chose to be.

Winston Churchill once said: "We make a living by what we get, but we make a life by what we give." May we have the grace to see that the completeness and fulfillment we seek lie not in acquiring more things, but in the service and giving of ourselves to others. A beautiful paradox indeed.
