MINOR IN DEVELOPMENT MANAGEMENT

“I was scared of you!”

“I thought you were mataray.”

These are always first impressions of me. Well, even after people get to know me, they may still think I’m mataray, but hopefully realize I’m not at all scary. If I were, I don’t think I would have been able to find such great people to call my closest friends in college, people who say that I am hardworking, determined, helpful, pabebe, and have a big heart. Thank you, guys, for helping me grow up and pushing me out of my comfort zone!
