

Michael L. Maribbay

I entered college with an intention to focus on chemistry. I'm graduating with an intention to focus on finance. Ano na? Looking through my years in college, I've realized a few things: Coffee is life, the unlikeliest people you meet will become your closest friends, the world will ever always be ever-changing, and life is easy if you have people who will be with you always. To all my groupmates, blockmates, friends, and my significant other, thank you for making me the best version of me.

Mary Anne D. Martillano

Many people know Mary Anne for her passion for her advocacies. A girl who grew up in Indonesia making a difference on the lives of many of us here, she juggles her schoolwork, family and social life without breaking a sweat. A frustrated dancer and shower singer, she definitely has a lot more up her sleeves. Rare it is to find a person who can balance everything that Mary does, but even rarer to find someone who can do all with a big heart. Mary Anne is changing the world one country at a time.
