

DOUBLE MAJOR IN BS MATERIALS SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING

Paul Ivan B. Ceralde

Life is a never-ending journey. Carry your anchor wherever you go. Arrive but never settle. Otherwise, you'll end up being in the same place thinking it's where you ought to be. You can always be somewhere better.

DOUBLE MAJOR IN BS MATERIALS SCIENCE ENGINEERING

Jansen Keith L. Domoguen

More often than not we fall victim to the illusion of choice, where we believe that we are living the life we want. But we have always been constrained by space and time. And in the end we all flow in the inevitable river of time. But if nothing in this world last, we can always control our will, belief and character. That if a person is always subject to change, one can always choose to grow. That is because our soul can never change. The real meaning of life is to seek the growth of the soul.
