

MINOR IN HISTORY

Meryl Christine J. Medel

Constellations have always guided people home for generations; lights that have lit up the sky for millennia, stars that make one feel not alone. Meryl has always been that constellation: a light to guide one home, a star to help one find their way, a warmth to make one feel like love always lasts forever. She is Sundays and sunrises, love and life. Meryl always shines like the best of them—a light to everyone she knows. (R. Dispo)

Now to:

Traveling. Taking photos. Reading. Writing. Loving. Going places.

Justine Marie Grace R. Mendoza

Audrey Hepburn once said that “Nothing is impossible, the word itself says ‘I’m possible!’” This is the quote that resonated with me throughout my college career. Through all the stress, coffee binges and all-nighters, I can definitely say that Ateneo continuously challenged and disarmed me. But I wouldn’t have had it any other way. Thank you Ateneo, for the end (or start) of a serendipitous journey.