1,450 sunrises bringing excitement each waking day. 1,450 mornings finding wonder in the smallest things. 1,450 afternoons filled with meetings at MVP and finishing up requirements at the Old Lib. 1,450 nights celebrating what has been and what can be in the streets of Katipunan. I cannot change the 1,450 days that I spent here in the Ateneo, but I can say that I will never trade any of the 1,450 days I needed to make me, me.

Of all the decisions I've made in this life, Ateneo has by far been my favorite one. I can proudly say that I have become a better person from when I first stepped foot in this university. Here, I was given the opportunity to gain a new perspective through the struggles I've faced, and most especially, the people I've met. For that, I will always look back on my college experience with a huge smile on my face.
