

NO
CASUAL
PIC
YET

Maxine G. Trinidad

“In an attempt to write something that would do my best friend justice, I Googled “Nikki Solinap.” The results: cute peach-cheeked selfies; a Twitter account perfectly combining life updates, witty social commentary, and fangirling; a personal blog full of pretty pictures and even prettier words; and a portfolio that could give a professional designer a run for their money.

And I thought to myself, “Yup, that’s Nikki.”

(Tricia Yu)

Ruby Rossette L. Tugade

March 27, 2010.

It all started in the Ateneo High School, to see your sister go down the hill. It was the blue fairy lights around you. It was the graduates and alumni pumping their fists in the air to A Song for Mary. It was the life-long dream to become one of them someday.

June 6, 2013.

It finally began in the Ateneo College Covered Courts as you danced on the chairs to Tonight. It was there before your very eyes, your home for the next four years. Here you are, halfway there.