Maaaring tapos na. Pero sa totoo'y nagsisimula pa lamang.

It seems like it was just yesterday when I had my first day in Ateneo as a freshman. Now, this magnificent journey is nearing its end. Every success and hardship has led me to become who I am now—a man who is confident, genuine, and loving to everyone. Good thing I always had my friends from my block and MACA who always had my back. Now as I graduate, I'd always like to remind myself that change will never come unless you make it happen. Never lose that drive to motivate yourself to change.
