

MINOR IN FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT

Arianna Natasha I. Chua

Uncountable equations, propositions, theorems, long tests, oral exams, papers, Bel to CTC runs and sleepless nights later, I've finally reached the finish line. But more than that—for all the knowledge I've gained, the lessons I've learned, the friends I've made, the memories, the people who have touched my life, the opportunity to touch other people's lives, and for transforming me to a better and wiser version of myself—thank you so much, Ateneo.

There were times when even my best was not enough. I've lost count of how many times I've failed, even though I've studied for weeks. But despite this, I am grateful because every downfall has also made me stronger. So thank you, Ateneo, for giving me the strength to face the challenges ahead of me. And to everyone who has helped me along the way, thank you for giving me the motivation to never give up.
