

Jessica Anne L. Hao

For someone who regularly eats chips for breakfast, Jessica has somehow managed to gather enough nutrients to become 5'7", although that's mostly because of her weirdly long torso. However, this just means there is so much more of her to love. And how can you not love her? She is a constant ball of energy and sunshine, brightening other people's days with her tight hugs that sometimes deprive them of oxygen. While she may be down to earth, she sure knows how to lift people up.
