Amidst whatever darkness we may encounter, we must have the courage to step out of our dreams in order to face reality, but we must never stop being dreamers. May we leave Ateneo with hearts still full of hope for a more beautiful world, and with minds that know what responsibilities we hold in order to make this happen. Yes, it is painful to loosen our grip on this part of our lives that we greatly loved, but this also leaves more space for us to embrace the rest of the world.

They say we don't grow when things are easy, we grow when we face challenges. Well, the past 4 years has handed me quite a number of challenges: 50-page readings, lab reports, comprehensive exams, orals (a.k.a. the bane of my existence), and a ton of papers. The struggle was real, but it was so worth it. Thank you, Ateneo, for these opportunities that made me grow to my fullest potential.
