There lies peace in being extraordinarily average.
You are a way-finder, a wanderer, a navigator. You need not know of where you are going, but you know how to get there, you know what to do.
You are not the leader of the pack, but you proceed without hesitation.
You do not excel, but you know so much more than those who do.
You may not be the best, but you are where you need to be.

Ana Sofia C. Trinidad

Despite the rocky start, Sofia's college experience was one of spontaneity, optimism, and clarity. It's through the challenges she faced in Ateneo that Sofia realized who she really is and how truly great she can be by staying driven and passionate. The friends she's made, the all nighters she's pulled and, all the people she has served in her stay made her the strong woman she is today; and for that she is thankful.
