

MINOR IN CHINESE STUDIES

Jasmine D. Dela Cruz

College is not a competition between your classmates. It's a clash with yourself—battling not being good enough, failures and constant disappointments. Congratulations, self, for braving it all, for completing that One Big Fight. Those four years of college did you well. Continue the improvement. Here's to more failures, disappointments, and self-doubts. Cheers to successes and improvements that will arise from those. As Dory says, "Just keep swimming." I'll just continue living and fighting.
